

WE NOMINATE

Immanuel Velikovsky, one of the controversial scientist-historians of his time and a delight to those cherishing arguments with physical scientists about concepts of the world's history, whose public lecture last week under the auspices of the Princeton Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics called new attention to what science writers love to call "The Velikovsky Affair." The basic question "before the house" is whether or not this 70-year-old Princetonian, who roams Princeton's libraries in culling "material to weave into his arguments," has advanced theories which can be supported.

In seeking to re-examine the structure and mechanism of the Universe by drawing on the new discoveries in the earth sciences in recent years, Velikovsky gripped, and held, the imagination of a standing-room-only audience in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs in discussing "Orthodoxy in Science and Non-Conformity in the Light of Space Age Discoveries." It was his contention that scientists and historians alike have ignored various findings which contradict their own presupposed notions of cosmology and that — despite years of ridicule — his own theories have been substantiated.

Velikovsky's arguments for his cataclysmic concept of the world's history caught the ear of "The New York Times" Science Editor, Walter Sullivan, who emphasized that Velikovsky's thesis "rests heavily on Old Testament accounts of great natural disasters." While the Biblically-inspired theories of Velikovsky regarding past floods and other disasters have virtually no scientific supporters, "The Times" intoned, there appear to have been cataclysmic events in the world's past." For instance, the world's most productive gold field in South Africa may have been shaped and exposed by an impacting comet.

In probing Velikovsky's views, ranging from the "solar wind" to Jupiter's generation of radio signals, Sullivan probed the opinions of leading scientists. From Princeton's Harry H. Hess, internationally known geologist and a strong advocate of the ill-fated "Mohole Project," came support on the basis of "fair play." While not adhering to Velikovsky's theories, Hess, a past chairman of the Space Science Board of the National Academy of Sciences, expressed high respect for Velikovsky's sincerity and "phenomenal memory" and in a letter to Velikovsky stated that "I do not know of any specific prediction you made that has since proven to be false."

A native of Russia, who came to this country in 1939 and in recent years has made his home here without any institutional affiliation, Velikovsky studied law, history and the natural sciences in various European universities; practiced medicine in Palestine in the 1920's; and, subsequently, gained a wide reputation for his work in psychoanalysis. His works include "Worlds in Collision," "Ages in Chaos," and "Oedipus and Akhnaton" and among his clippings appears this description: "one of this century's boldest and most knowledgeable thinkers who remains the non-fraternity man, the barbarian on the proper campus, a non-conforming intellectual too big to be ignored and too quilled with sharp facts to sit down in comfort with."

For thoroughly enjoying his role as a "devil's advocate" for his capacities for making ancient documents, what ever their origins, "come to life" for forcing his listeners and readers whether they agree or disagree with his pronouncements, to think on their own; he is our nominee as

Certainly not the fortunate family who'll relish living in this spacious, sunlit, wide windowed house. A warm blend of contemporary and traditional design it's check full of closets, conveniences, casement windows and french doors opening to the surrounding gardens. Imagination has been put to practical use here in so many ways — a family dining room as well as a formal dining room, a complete laundry & utility room on the first floor (lined with cabinets). A second fireplace in the basement recreation area — 3 bedrooms and 2 baths on the first floor plus 2 more very big ones (one on a playroom?) and bath upstairs. POLICE ASK RAISE Via Referendum. Township police, anxious about higher salaries and rising costs, tossed a small bombshell into the Princeton community this week.

Taking a petition from door to door, policemen have obtained enough signatures to secure a place on the Township ballot this November for a salary referendum. If Township voters approve it, all Township policemen in each grade will receive $1,850 increase in base pay, payable over a two-year period: $925 next year, $925 in 1968.

Committee, meeting on Monday night, did not pretend that it was pleased with this turn of events.

Mayor Carl C. Schafer said coolly that the policemen had asked Committee to place the salary question on the ballot, and that Committee had refused. He pointed out that Committee is the body charged with working out a municipal budget, and that the salary referendum might set an unfortunate precedent.

In fact, Township attorney Gordon Griffin said, in reply to questioning, that any municipal employees could follow the example of the policemen and get a salary referendum on the ballot, providing they obtained enough signatures.

The law requires that 20% of the registered voters must sign such a petition. In the Township, this means 1,252. The police obtained more than enough — 1,320 signatures, of which 1,297 were legally registered.

Surprise, "Did committee know about this petition?" asked an incredulous member of the audience, Henry J. Frank of 126 Valley Road. Mayor Schafer said no. He added that the amount requested was more than Township Committee would have given the police in next year's budget.

Under the present salary scale, policemen receive $5,300 to $7,250 on a four-year spread. Sergeants receive $7,950 to $8,875. A lieutenant receives JUVENILE OFFICER: Patrolman Walter E. Emann, Jr., Province Line Road, has been named full-time juvenile officer for Princeton Township.

JUVENILE OFFICER NAMED: Walter Emann. Appointed. The Township held the Borough to the draw Monday night by announcing the appointment of a full-time juvenile officer.

The Township's man will be Patrolman Walter E. Emann, who now achieves Detective status. Patrolman Emann joined the Township force on February 15, 1955 and has been serving as part-time Juvenile Officer since June, 1960. His full-time appointment became effective immediately.

In the Borough, appointment of a full-time juvenile officer hinges upon hiring enough patrolmen so that one can be serving at part-time Juvenile Officer since June, 1960. His full-time appointment became effective immediately.

$8,700 to $9,625 and the chief, $10,300 to $11,225. After a man has served ten years on the force, he receives an additional $250 longevity pay. In another five years, he receives $250 more and so on, with $250 added every five years.

"But there's nothing in between those five year gaps," points out Patrolman Michael Kopliner. "There are yearly increments, but the fellows have gotten to the point where they don't feel the yearly increments have been keeping pace with the cost of living in the Township."

He says that, at the patrolman level, raises over the past five years have amounted to $1,100. $249 a year. A raise of $250 is in the current budget. Committee earmarked $200,000 in this year's budget for salaries for the two-dozen policemen.

Most Live Here Patrolman Kopliner. Patrolman Frank Cox and Samuel Bianco formed the negotiating committee that tilted with Township Committee about the salary problem. This committee is not part of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

The Kopliner quotes his own words as an example of rising community costs. "Most of us have our homes here and we want to stay here," he emphasizes. Last year, regulations were relaxed so that a Township policeman could live with in a five mile radius of the Township, but most of the force lives in the municipality and Mr. Kopliner believes that it is professionally essential for policemen to live in the community he patrols.

The police are unhappy also about the Township's hospitalization policy.

"Three years ago, they gave us half our hospitalization," he explains. "Last year, they gave us one-fourth more. Well, maybe we'll get that final one-fourth this year, but we think we should have had complete hospitalization all along."

He adds that the longevity pay has never been ordered. So that legally, it could be retroactive to any Committee that chose to do so. This adds to a feeling of insecurity, he says.

Two Jobs. "To live here in the Township on our salaries, you've either got to moonlight with a second job, or have a wife who works. And sometimes when we ask Committee for more pay, they say, 'Well, we allow you to moonlight.'"

Township police, in their hours off, are carpenters, schoolmaster, laundries, truck drivers and the like. It is difficult to take a standard second job because of the way police shifts vary.

Mr. Kopliner says that Stuart Robson, Township tax assessor, has prepared tables of figures which show that the salary increase would cost $6 more a year on a $30,000 house. Administrator Joseph E. Nini estimated roughly on Monday night that it would be $18 on a $30,000 house.

At Monday night's meeting, Mr. Frank asked whether Committee had ever considered a professional study of the police department.

"What DOES it cost to live in the Township — that's an important question," he suggested. "Exactly what duties do the police perform, and how well are they done — these things should be examined."

Traditionally, police have met with Committee to talk about salaries. "Last year, when the pay raises were announced, some of the fellows were pretty unhappy, but Committee said 'This is final' — there would be no further discussion. Well, we decided then to see about a referendum."

The policemen approached Mr. Griffin who drew up the petition. In correct legal form and about two weeks ago, the men went out in plain clothes on their off-duty hours and ob-lained the signatures they needed.

"We'd just as soon stay with Township Committee instead of going to the voters," Mr. Koplaer explains. "But we just can't reason with them, and we're pretty discouraged."

RAIN

Who Said "Drought?" "I stayed inside," said Weatherman David Ludlum, commenting on Saturday's moisture. The 1.15 inches of rain fell. The 1.15 inches of rain that fell on Saturday morning shoppers and Saturday afternoon football fans just missed contributing to the splendidly wet month of September. Saturday, you may recall, was October 1.

"The agricultural drought is indeed broken," Mr. Ludlum continued, unfurling his umbrella. "Whether the long-term drought has yet been broken is another matter, however." "The water-table is certainly higher," he added, "but we still need more water down below the ground."

In September, about eight inches of rain fell on Princeton, 212% above normal. The farther north, the more rain New Brunswick was hardest hit, with 6.47 inches all in one day — September 21. It was the heaviest rainfall in 96 years.

In northern New Jersey, the September average was seven inches — 123% of normal. In the southern interior, it was 8.1 and on the coast 5.5 inches.

The two big rain days in September were both Wednesdays, the 14th, when Princeton had 2.5 inches in one day, and the 21st when Princeton had 5.5 and New Brunswick got that whopping 6.47.

Meat? No. None of this rain is linked at all to hurricanes.

Mr. Ludlum says, "Our rains came from the Gulf and the Atlantic. We finally got those slowly moving coastal storms' coastal disturbances" they call them, and that brought us, finally, the rain we needed."

The same type of circulation will continue, Mr. Ludlum believes. "We'll have normal precipitation and below-normal temperatures," is the Ludlum prognosis.

Mr. Ludlum is headed this weekend for Hanover and the Dartmouth-Princeton game. He recalls that it snowed in Hanover two years ago shortly after that game ended, and his only comment for '66 is, "I don't mind getting wet."

TRAIL GROWING COLD

Boy SUD Missing. It's a cold and tangled trail and the 15-year-old boy who walked along it is still missing.

Jamie Zapolski, 16 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, disappeared last July 23. Eight days before, he had bought an expensive, 15-speed Tour de France Dynamax bicycle. He talked about riding it to Florida, but he was last seen riding it only a mile from his house at 3 p.m., on Saturday, July 23.

When he didn't come home that night, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bronislaw Zapolski, called the police. Princeton Borough police, Princeton Township police, State Police.

In the standard alarm bulletin, the State Police described Jamie: six feet tall, 140-150 pounds, brown hair, blue-green almond-shaped eyes, lefthanded, dressed in white jeans sawed off at the knee, sneakers.

They also described the unusual French bike, gold and white, with its Tour de France Dynamax decal.

Communication Inadequate. The alarm was sent out on July 24, but it was sent only to the Princeton State Police zone the first in a series of communication blocks that have allowed Jamie's trail to grow cold.

Because Jamie's bike had already been found, it had been found and reported to the police of Franklin Township, but Franklin Township is outside the Princeton State Police zone and Franklin police did not receive the bulletin.

MYSTERY UNSOLVED: More than two months after his disappearance, little evidence has been uncovered which will aid in search for 15-year-old Jamie Zapolski of Rocky Hill. His parents now say that police cooperation has been inferior, seriously complicating the efforts to follow his trail.

Some boys had found the bike, one of its wheels bent, on the very day the alarm went out — July 24 — in the waters of the Delaware and Raritan Canal in Griggstown, about five miles from Jamie's home.

After the boys told the Franklin police about finding the bike, the police told them to keep it until someone claimed it or reported it stolen. Russell Pfeiffer, chief of Franklin Township's police, said later that he thought the bike — a new, expensive vehicle — might have been thrown into the canal by someone who was moving and didn't want to take it along. One of the boys, a 16-year-old visiting in Griggstown, kept the bike later, when he returned home to Connecticut, he left it in the Griggstown garage of some relatives.

Mr. Zapolski now says that if he had realized the first State Police alarm would be sent to such a limited area, he would have called all the police stations himself.

In any case, State Police sent out a second alarm on July 26 — two days after the first one. This time, it went only to Franklin Township but to points south on the coast where Jamie might have been on his way to Florida.

Bicycle Unidentified. Franklin Township police never connected the bicycle described in this alarm with the one the boys had found two days before. Chief Pfeiffer said the bike no longer had the Tour de France decal.

After the July 26 alarm, weeks went by. Jamie did not return. Police are used to runaway boys in the summer and apparently they thought that's what Jamie was, because so far as the Zapolskis know, the case was not followed. Jamie did want to go to Florida, it's true. He had been pacing his bike a regular 20 miles each day and going through a regimen of physical exercises to get himself in shape.

But he was not in the runaway pattern. His parents and friends knew how eager he was about school, how smart he was and how he talked about a law career. When school opened and he did not appear for the start of his sophomore year at Princeton High, his parents began to be certain he had not gone to Florida.

Canal Is Searched. In mid-September, the boy who had gone back to Connecticut came to Griggstown for another visit and read about Jamie and his bike in a newspaper. He called Franklin Township police and informed them that the bike was the same one. At this discovery, scuba divers began searching the canal for Jamie's body. So far — nothing.

State Police told Jamie's parents that the bike would be taken to the State Police laboratory; had the decal soaked off in the canal water, or had it been scraped off by someone trying to disguise such a distinctive bicycle?

According to the Zapolski, it was 15 days before the

There is another twist to the September left off and what's more, the forecast for the next 30 days calls for precipitation well above normal.

The next few days are expected to be generally fair, with cooler than avering. Scattered showers are a weekend possibility.

fortunate the tight mortgage market is just too tight for interested parties to consider a bid at this time. The Borough will hold the property and see what happens to the market.

Meantime, nine lots along Herontown Road belonging to the Borough but in the Township, will be submitted in preliminary-and-final-plan form to the Township Planning Board next Monday. If the Planning Board approves the subdivipublic auction.

POLITICS: 1965

Campaign Time in Princeton. David S. Thompson and John D. Wallace, Republican candidates for Township Committee, are running in coffee-hours and discussion groups, on a platform of "accomplishment, progress and fulfilled promises."

The ten-point Wallace-Thompson platform includes: continuing efforts to maintain the local tax rate (the current rate of $1.14 per $100 is a penny less than the 1962 rate); using planning and zoning to "maintain the character of Princeton development of the office-research zone in the Township," "through consideration" of the recommendations that will come from the citizens housing committee; development of Open Space for public use; "stepped-up juvenile guidance and counseling" including a full-time juvenile officer; cooperation with the University on recreation and safety around Lake Carnegie; extension Township sewer work with the Borough toward traffic solutions and continued cooperation with the Borough on present joint programs.

POLITICS: 1965

Democratic candidates for Township Committee, Mrs. Geraldine Boone and George Goldsmith, will be guests at a coffee hour this Thursday at 5 p.m. at the home of Frank Wells, 36 Birch Avenue.

The Civil Liberties of all Americans is the theme of among the topics to be discussed at the informal session.

STUDENT ARRESTED

For Possession of Marijuana Armed with a search warrant, Borough and Campus police Friday night arrested Charles T. O. Rennie, 91 Holder Hall, a Princeton University sophomore, and charged him with possession of marijuana.

Rennie was arraigned before Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Fann Jr., who suggested a bail of $10,000 be set. He was then sent to the Mercer County Jail to await action by a grand jury.

So far, the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office, under Joseph Jurisdiction the case falls, has accepted Magistrate Tamm's suggestion and set bail at $10,000. However, John E. Huff, the undersheriff of Mercer County, reported that Rennie's lawyer may apply to the Prosecutor's Office to lower the bail. In the eyes of New Jersey law, possession of marijuana is only a disorderly conduct offense.

Rennie was arrested by Lt. Francis Maguire and Sergeants Michael Carnevale, Theodore Lewis and Arthur Gallant of the Borough Police in cooperation with H. Walter Dodwell, security officer of the University, and his assistant, James Kopliner. At the time of the raid, Rennie's three-room suite which he shared with two other sophomores was occupied by two girls and six boys. Police said the other students were not implicated in any way.

Police searched the room and said they found a bag of processed marijuana in one of Rennie's suitcases which also contained unprocessed marijuana. Lt. Maguire declined to disclose the exact amount but he implied that it was sizeable. "What alarms me," he said, "is how easily students can get the stuff." Mr. Dodwell was quoted as saying Rennie had purchased the marijuana for $100 during a trip last month to San Francisco.

Rennie is from London, England, and a British subject. His father, John O. Rennie, a British government official, was a former secretary of the British Embassy in Washington.

At the time of his arrest Rennie was on academic probation. Last Tuesday, he had applied for withdrawal from the University to be effective on Friday, the day of his arrest. John M. Fenton, associate director of the University's Department of Public Information, said that in view of Rennie's request, the University does not consider him a current student. It plans no further action, he added.

Magistrate Tim issued the warrant after Lt. Maguire swore out an affidavit in which he said he had evidence to believe there were narcotics on campus. Mr. Dodwell reported that an anonymous tip from a student led to the raid.

CARS CRASH ON BRIDGE

Five are injured. Five persons were injured at 11:28 Friday night when two cars collided in the middle of the Princeton-Kingston Bridge.

Robert W. Gibson, 48, of Edison, one of the drivers, required 12 sutures at Princeton Hospital to clear lacerations of his scalp. His wife Rose, also 48, suffered bruises of the left arm.

The second driver, John Slayback 3d, 18, Little Street, Princeton Junction, received an abrasion of the forehead. David Martz, 17, Princeton-Highstown Road, and Miss Patricia Rodeweller, 17, 14 Chestnut Street, were passengers in his car. Miss Rodeweller required 15 sutures for multiple lacerations of the face and forehead. Martz sustained an abrasion over his left eye and a laceration of the chin.

Township Pitt Michael C. Kopliner charged Mr. Gibson with careless driving. According to his investigation, the sharp curve leading to the bridge, failed to keep right and crossed over the center line. The complete front ends, hoods and windshields of both cars were completely damaged.

TEENS PLAN NEWSPAPER
"The Changing Times" The first issue of Princeton teenagers' own newspaper, "The Changing Times," was distributed on Monday, Karl Stange, a junior at Princeton High School and a member of the football squad, is editor-in-chief.

The newspaper, a four-page fortnightly, will start with a press run of 2,000 copies, printed off-set by the Princeton Service Bureau. It carries no advertising, but plenty of news and comment written for and by teenagers. The editorial room is in the Youth Associates' office, 20 Nassau Street.

Staff members include Libby Wert, Bob Korman, Tom Ford, John Houston, Betsy Hartmann, Button Goretz, Melissa Webster, Larry Hammond, Errol Vural and Retti Campbell, representing Princeton secondary schools. "The Changing Times" is an outgrowth of one of last summer's innumerable talk sessions at the Youth Associates' coffeehouse, 45 Calcomb, in the basement of First Presbyterian Church.

Subscriptions at $2 for one year are being solicited of parents and adult friends. Funds will go to the printing budget. If there is any money left over, the staff says optimistically, it will be allocated to the hoped-for Student Lounge. Checks, payable to "The Changing Times," may be sent to 20 Nassau Street, c/o Youth Associates.

ABOUT JACKSON . . .
Motorist Pace Delour. The Jackson Street re-alignment, once scheduled to be done in two phases, will be undertaken all at once instead. The Borough had decided on a two-phase operation so that parking wouldn't be disrupted. However, Council hit upon another solution and has introduced an ordinance vacating Jackson so that Palmer Square, can use the land for the necessary parking.

PRINCETON'S NEWEST INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER, "The Changing Times" will make its first appearance Monday, written by teenagers "to inform kids and parents of what is happening, to unite student groups and to give our views of local happenings." Above, at an editorial session in the Youth Associates' office, 20 Nassau, are (from left) Larry Hammond, PHIS; John Houston, PHIS, and Retti Campbell, PDS Correspondent. Story in Topics of the Town, (Staff Photo)

The ordinance was introduced at a special Council session Monday night. Because of the time required for legal publication, public hearing will be held at another special session on October 18 rather than at the regular Council meeting. During construction, motorists who want to get from Wiggins to Avalon Place will have to detour and for a day or two, the Wiggins-Wilberghon intersection will be closed altogether.

For section two of Jackson Street, Castore and Company of Hopewell was low bidder with $41,210. Pardon Construction came in with $54,533. Engineer Thomas Cawley had estimated $44,000.

ARE YOU A NEWCOMER?
Group Plans Activities. Princeton Newcomers Club will meet next Wednesday, October 12, at 12:30 at the WYCA. A Bell Telephone film on New Jersey will be shown.

On Friday, October 14, the club will visit Washington's headquarters at Rockingham and have lunch at Colonial Child Care Deated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
In reply to some of the letters I have received since writing about the lack of adequate child day care centers in Princeton for working mothers, there are those who wonder what kind of a woman it is who does not have more interest and love for her child than a stranger (baby sitter)."

I would like to remind these people that mere absence does not make a woman a neglectful mother anymore than her presence makes her a good one. It is the quality of a relationship that really matters — with children, as well as with adults.

To condemn the establishment of child day care centers for working mothers on the basis that "career women" should be willing to sacrifice several of their own lives for the sake of their children, is not a cogent argument.

There are circumstances which make it imperative for a woman to go to work, even if there are small children at home. If a woman is separated, divorced, or widowed, it is certainly mandatory for her to work, in most instances. Also, perhaps she just isn't temperamentally suited to staying at home all day with small children. In short, there can be many and varied reasons for such a situation; but just at there is Social Security, for example, although the majority of our population is not yet 65, so should there be made available adequate child day care centers for those who would so greatly benefit.

By Archimedes (Bernard)

Nothing contributes so much to a woman's over-all beauty and attractiveness as shining, healthy hair. No matter how well dressed you are, if your hair is dull, unattractively styled, the whole illusion of the well-groomed woman is lost.

If you are faced with a particular hair problem, the person to whom you should go for help is your hairdresser. As a thoroughly professional hairdresser, I am concerned with the continuing good health of my patron's hair. It is up to me to remind these women, and you, also, of the good grooming necessities that go hand-in-hand with a lustrous coiffure.

It's so important to have the proper hair-cut that fits your facial features and personality, a good individually-calculated permanent to give the right amount of body to a particular length of hair, to learn all there is about proper hair care, so that you know you will be well dressed from your head to your toes. Come to the TAYLORWOOD BEAUTY MAN-OR, 93 Palmer Square West, or call 924-3863. We really care about your hair!

THE HOUSE THAT BAREFOOT BUILT

The ground floor "mud room" of this pre-Revolutionary Princeton house is the earliest part, having stone work dated 1720, the year it was built by Barefoot Brinsod, mill owner and long time sheriff of Somerset County. An indoor stream — the inhabitants' source of water in time of Indian warfare — still flows in a small channel through outcropping rocks (emptying into a cistern) to form a unique setting for house plants. Old floor boards, deep set windows and beautifully detailed moldings are features of the living area throughout.

The center hall leads to a screened gallery overlooking the Millstone River, opening at the right to twin living rooms, on the left to a handsome dining room and kitchen. Upstairs are five bedrooms and three baths. The grounds, landscaped with old trees, terraces, floored walks and steps, are happily in keeping with the atmosphere of the house. A swimming pool and a pitch and put course are concessions to 20th century living! A rare house, and with some freshening, a true beauty. $75,000.

HERALD: Marc Alaimo will portray The Herald in "Agamemnon," the Greek tragedy that will open McCarter Theatre's 1966 Fall Drama Series.

News Of The THEATRES

IT'S OPENING NIGHT
This Friday, in customary black-tie splendor, McCarter Theatre will inaugurate this Friday at 8 p.m. its annual Fall Drama season of plays presented in repertory.

The opening production will be Robert Fagles' translation of the Aeschylus "Agamemnon" directed by Anthony Simace. The cast will be headed by Charles Siebert as Agamemnon, Angela Wood as Clytemnestra and Susan Babel as Cassandra. Mr. Siebert was Richmond in the New York Shakespeare Festival "Richard III," Miss Wood was in the Lincoln Center's "The Country Wife" and Miss Babel has been a million light years from Cassandra as Grasmia Treille in "Fiddler on the Roof."

DANCERS IN WINGS

For Graham Appearance, a fourth production has been added to the original three announced by the Martha Graham company for its appearance this Sunday in McCarter at 3.

"Secular Games" featuring the men dancers of the group is the newly announced work. The other three are "Socratic Dialogue," "Diversion of Angels" and "Acrobats of God."

The program for the National Ballet, which will dance at McCarter on Sunday, October 23 at 3, has now been announced. It will include George Balanchine's "Serenade" to music by Tchaikovsky; Frederic Franklin's "Dance Brillante" and "Through the Edge," by Michael Lopazanski to music by Samuel Barber. None of the three has been in McCarter before.

TO SWEDISH CHILDREN
the Stockholm Marionettes are a treasured possession.
... Don't miss — Direct From Sweden!

The remarkably tight with some friends.

In addition, the National Ballet will present a second Balanchine, "Four Temperaments" set to Paul Hindemith's score.

Both the Graham and National companies are appearing under the joint auspices of the Princeton Ballet Society and McCarter.

ARE THEY ALIVE

Almost... Shadow puppets, actors' who are 10 feet tall, live actors half that size, hand puppets, marionettes, "black theatre" techniques — all have been combined by the Stockholm Marionette Theatre of Fantasy into productions that keep young audiences in a whirl of excitement.

The Stockholm troupe will come to McCarter Theatre on Saturday, October 29 for two performances (11 a.m. and 2:30 p.m.) of "The Wizard of Oz" in English. Tickets now on sale.

KURT WEILL IS BACK

From Off-Broadway, "The World of Kurt Weill," an off-Broadway musical hit, will be presented in McCarter Theatre on Monday, October 31 at 8:30 in a single performance.

Weill's songs will be sung by Martha Schlamme and Will Holt from the original New York and London casts. Weill wrote "September Song," "Mack the Knife," "Jenny Made her Mind Up" and a score of those settings to music the world of such varied authors as Brecht, Moss Hart and Maxwell Anderson.

ACTORS ARE "ASSETS"

To Japan. Three actors in the "No" company destined for McCarter next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. have been designated "Human Cultural Assets" by the Japanese government. They are members of the Jozebo School, and they will join their colleagues in production.

AN AMERICAN DREAM Stuart Whitman, as Norman Miller's much-reckoning reporter, battles with the German maid, played by Thelma Heineberg. In the suspense-drama now at the Princeton Theatre.

ending two full-length dramas "Kago, Kumachi" and "Tune."

Next Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Firststone Library Theatre Arts Collection room, Dr. Frank Hoff of the University faculty will lecture on the Japanese theatre. Next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the East Pine Administration Building, Dr. Donald Kenne of Columbia University will lecture on the history and background of "No" theatre. The public is invited to attend.

"CYBELE"
On Tuesday This Time "Sundays and Cybele" will open McCarter Theatre's International Film Series next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Winner of the Academy Award "Best Foreign Film" award in 1962, "Sundays and Cybele" tells the lyric story of a war veteran suffering from amnesia and a lonely 12-year-old girl.

PLAYERS TO MEET
To Discuss New Season: The Princeton Community Players will hold their first meeting of the new season on Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Princeton Ball Society Building, 262 Alexander Street. Everyone interested in learning more about the group is urged to attend.

President Leo Brannick will outline plans for the season, and the group will discuss plays under consideration for production. The discussion will be followed by a presentation of excerpts from the Players' production of "Mystery" "Spoon River Anthology," which was successfully performed last August at the Washington Crossing Park Open Air Theatre.

PRINCE
An American Dream (now playing) brings another of Norman Mailer's books to the screen. It is a rough tale of a miserably ambitious war veteran whose plans are subverted by his attraction to beautiful, unstable women.

Stuart Whitman is cast as Stephen Rojack sensation-seeking TV commentator, ex-Korean War hero, Eleanor Parker portrays his shrewish wife, the daughter of "the eighth richest man in the U.S." The film starts off with what must surely be the most ferocious brawl between husband and wife on the screen, not even excepting "Virginia Woolf."

Janet Leigh appears as Cherry, a nightclub singer and gangster's girl, who turns the hero over to the mob. The end result is a fairly interesting drama about a bunch of characters who don't evoke much sympathy even with a fair amount of suspense and soul-searching thrown in.

GREENWOOD
The Sleeping Beauty (Wed. & Thurs., Oct. 12 & 13) Audiences are again offered a remarkable performance by the Kirov Ballet in a feature-length version of Tchaikovsky's classic, "The Sleeping Beauty."

The four title roles are danced by Alla Sizova as Princess Aurora, Yuri Soldviev as Prince Desire, Natalia

COVERLETS FOR ALL
Receive Your Bedside A new and spectacular line of bedspreads at Stone's will tempt you to redecorate the whole room; actually, these spreads are such focal points in themselves that you can leave the rest of the room as is... unless, of course, you select one of Stone's sets, with matching curtains, valances and goodie-goodies what else.

Look through that big book with its colored pictures of rooms and its huge swatches of fabric, and then just try to decide.

For a room in the Far East—manner or under the Spanish influence, try "Barzaz," a tapestry with splendid fringe in olive-petcock or wonderful copper tones. It's $64.95 in full size.

To give you an idea of price range, here's a full-size spread called "Bolero" at $22.95. This is another Spanish spread, in cotton this time, with five color-combinations to choose from. Why not black scrolls on natural, or green on petcock? Box corners shape the spread to the bed.

"Crawel" is a print so realistic in dimension you'll reach out to touch the embroidery. "Minaret" is a sombre paisley. Many of these spreads have matching fabrics by the yard so that you can make drapes or other accessories yourself. One that has been quilted in big three-inch shapes, for example, has matching fabric either quilted or plain.

One of the spiciest prints is called "Waltztime," and it's a brilliance of bright pastel flowers in blue, gold, green or pink. A charmer for feminine room full of sunshine.

"Calico Cottage" looks just the way it sounds. It comes with a canopy for either twin or full size, and curtains in three different styles, each one appropriate for Calico. There's fabric too, by the long calico yard.

The rosy cheeks of chintz characterize "Country Eng-

Country Store

Rosedale Mills is a down-to-earth country store in the heart of — more or less — links like it's on the corner of Alexander and Faculty Road with the Sprinkdale link across the street and the University looming up behind.

Customer talk is about dogs and kennels and horse-wooden horse-drawn. Nestafat Oil and Saddle Soap, Purina's Horse-plus and Ford Softener. Trainer collar for your Irish setter?

Sure. Leash for the A.C.C. spaniel? Naturally. And dog and cat food by the ton.

There's the stimp of countrymen's boots and the sharpness of red plaid skirts and you're a million miles from Nassau Street.

lish" with its happy combinations of peony pinks. It has gold and blue in it, too, and a charming dust-ruffle to flounce it off.

If you have a corduroy room in mind, select one of the 21 colors in "Gibraltar" (although why corduroy has been called "Gibraltar" Mr. Stone isn't saying.)

In the "Scotsman" line you have a choice of five tartans, each finished off with harmonizing fringe in solid colors. "Eneamo" gives you a choice of red or blue plaid at only $22.95, full size. This one comes with a window valence or cafe curtains.

Spreads and matching curtains with quite a different air belong to another collection at Stone's. These are white and pastel spreads in nylon or cotton cordage, exquisitely embroidered in tone-on-tone or contrasts.

"Normandy," for example, is a cotton cordage matched with eyellet in a froth of ruffles on a canopied bed, with tiered curtains at the windows.

Wild flowers on white make a charming ensemble, and sold lovers knots connected with a slim heart link make an overall pattern with more formality.

One group is built around pastels. Here's a solid violet enhanced with white scallops around the border. Here's another group with ombre borders shading off into scalloped edges.

In these groups of embroidered and eyellet pastels, are tier curtains, pillow shams, dust-ruffles, vanity skirts, ruffled curtains, flouncing, tailored curtains, and 42-inch fabric in addition to bedspreads.

Perhaps not every style has every accessory, but in most, you can have your room—complete.

LAPSAK SOUTHCAN?
In a Swedish Cup. Pour your next cup from Princeton: Gourmet's straight-sided Swedish teapot with its raffia handle. It's being poured, naturally, into a matching cup (a top of a matching saucer. You're serving the tea cake from a Swedish cake plate and admiring the deep blue spring violets all over the white.

Those Swedish demi-tasses — in case you've switched to coffee—are more taste than demi, because they don't fuss around with tiny cups in Sweden. These have close rows of stylized forget-me-nots. So you won't forget the cream and sugar.

Still here in Sweden, with that wonderful deep Swedish blue on white, is a Gourmet set of teapots, an gratin, cream and sugar. Here's a double jam pot with an oyster deep beanpot-shaped tureen like anything else in the set, it's oven and flameproof.

Those herring jars (Sylt) have rows of vegetables on white, and if you aren't having herring, Gourmet suggests keeping butter in them. The jars are squat in two sizes: oldest, or narrow. They have wooden disc tops.

Not sure whether this one is Swedish or Danish, but it's northern at any rate, in that set of teapots, an gratin, cream and sugar. Here's a double jam pot with an oyster deep beanpot-shaped tureen Dudinskaya as the Wicked Fairy, and Irina Bashanova as the Little Fairy.

All are beautifully performed, each showing unusual jumps, spins and leaps with outstanding beauty and grace. The scenic backgrounds, trick camera shots and music are added enjoyment.

PLAYHOUSE

The Wrong Box (now playing): Putting a period comedy (on the screen) is a difficult enough task. To mix it with the macabre would seem to invite certain disaster. Yet "The Wrong Box" is a comedy set in Victorian England in which a corpse is a principal character and incredible result is one of the funniest films from England... or anywhere.

It is deftly played with a kind of risible exactness by John Mills and Richard Richardson, among others, joined by Michael Caine ("The Innocent") and Nanette Newman. Peter Sellers appears in a "satire" role.

The groundwork for the plot is laid when a boys' school class at the turn of the century is told that a lottery has been arranged by their collective parents. The large sum of money will be put in trust, payable to the last survivor of the class in a series of quick drawings. The hizzaz deaths of the graduates are shown until there are only two left. These are two elderly and eccentric brothers, John Mills and Richard Richardson, who are neighbors but haven't spoken to each other in 40 years.

Each is determined to outdo the other, and the comedy gets increasingly wacky. There is a mix-up during a train accident, the mistaken identity of a corpse, and the coming of two wicked nephews. One of the funniest scenes involves Peter Sellers as the disreputable doctor whose unkempt office is shared with scores of cats.

The mixture of sophisticated drawing-room comedy and slushy shock should be enjoyed by all.

John F. Kennedy: Years of Lichening. Day of drama (now playing). It is well known that it required an act of Congress to permit this documentary by the United States Information Agency to be shown in this country.

The film shows highlights from John F. Kennedy's two years and 10 months in the White House. The late president's programs are divided into the new frontier or his program for progress: the Peace Corps, the Alliance for Progress, civil rights, exploration of space, pursuit of peace and military preparedness.

Kennedy is shown carrying his message of peace and progress to various countries and heard commenting on crucial issues. A few moments are also shown where he relaxes with his family. It is a moving portrait.

One of the most interesting who coasters Gourmet has made in some time is the nine-square one mounted on a waffle. It's light wood made in a modern style with a single center of dark wood in the center. Much too handsome to coexist with a waffle. Another coaster looks like a waffle grid.

As well as a meaningful chapter in history. The end result is a simple picture of a man who captured the admiration and imaginations of millions throughout the world.

A special credit goes to Bruce Herschenovitz, who wrote the script directed and composed music. He achieves a remarkable sense of the Kennedy presence.

TWO LECTURES PLANNED

Before McCarter Program. Two lectures on the Japanese "No" theatre will be given at Princeton University on Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m. in connection with McCarter Theatre's Wednesday presentation of "No" plays. The lectures are sponsored by Princeton's Creative Arts Program and the Program in East Asian Studies.

On Monday, Prof. Frank P. Hoff of Princeton will speak on "Music and Gesture in Japanese 'No' in the theatre collection room of Firestone Library. He will illustrate his talk with photographs and a recording of "Kayoi Komachi," one of the plays he presented at McCarter.

Prof. Donald Keene of Columbia will give the second lecture on Tuesday in 124 East Pine Building. He is known as an authority on Japanese theatre and a translator of No plays.

you at Rosedale Mills. If you've got dead brown patches on your lawn, you've probably got chinch bugs who have sucked the life out of the grass roots. The thing to do is to rent Rosedale Mills' hatching machine, rake up all that dead grass, plant new seed, then next June—your lawn into the chinch bugs with a potent bug-killer. They warn you at Rosedale not to wait until October 15 to seed your lawn. Use Merlon blue if you've got sun. Fox Triflex if you've got shade. Use Scott's Turf Builder.

"We're sold on it," they'll tell you at Rosedale. "I've customers who tested it next to a cheaper fertilizer, and you could see every time how much better the Scott's was." Rosedale is looking forward through the winter to next spring, when they'll have a liquid crabgrass killer, you'll struggle to spread even with a Meter-Spinner spreader. Hain won't wash it off and the crabgrass will just turn over on its back and die.

IVY MANOR DAMAGED
By Smoke, Fire, A basement storage and display area of the Ivy Manor Furniture Store in the Princeton Shopping Center was damaged by smoke and fire last Wednesday afternoon in the second fire to strike the Center in two years. Volunteers from three Princeton companies were handicapped by their inability to reach the fire. The only access to the basement is by the way of a narrow stairway leading to the outside. Firemen were blocked by heat and heavy smoke from smoldering mattresses that filled the stairway.

Several firemen wearing oxygen masks tried to enter the basement but were driven back. Suction fans were used to draw away the dense smoke but these, too, proved ineffective. Finally, the frustrated firemen chopped two holes through the reinforced concrete floor above the basement with air hammers.

They then lowered hoses through the holes and finally brought the stubborn fire under control some three and one-half hours after it was first reported at 1 p.m. During the blaze, traffic from both ends on Harrison Street was detoured from the Center.

The fire was discovered by Walter Harris, 41, of Cranbury, manager of the store, near a panel of circuit breakers. He used three fire extinguishers in an unsuccessful attempt to put out the fire, sustaining minor facial burns. He was treated at Princeton Hospital and released. Mr. Harris said that he believed a short in the electrical system was responsible for the blaze.

The store had been remodelled during the summer. It is believed that only its thick concrete walls prevented the fire from spreading to the Mall Camera shop next door. Almost two years ago, the Shalin light fixture store in the Shopping Center was gutted by flames. It did not reopen.

During the next few months, Mr. Harris said that Ivy Manor would carry on its business in the vacated Jack Lang Store in the Shopping Center. An affiliated store, The Rug Mart, is located on Route 206. Both are owned by Roger and Arthur Yang.

TRAP ROCK CO. SOLD
In Litigated Settlement. The Kingston Trap Rock Company and six subsidiary industries have been sold for an estimated $20,000,000 to Trap Rock Industries. The sale followed litigation of a dispute between the purchasing company and the heirs of Linus R. Gilbert, founder of the Kingston concern.

The dispute concerned the interpretation of the terms of transfer drafted by Mr. Gilbert before his death. The heirs contended that stone which had already been stockpiled for sale was not included in the original agreement. Trap Rock Industries asserted that the stone had been included in the deal.

The Kingston Company was reported to have been sold for $10,000,000. Sale prices of the other enterprises were reported as: Pennington Quarry, $2,500,000; Rocky Hill Land Company, $2,000,000; Trap Rock of Pennsylvania, $1,500,000; Kingston Blumington Products, $1,000,000; and Millstone Delta Company, $1,000,000.

The quarries include 3,000 acres of land and approximately a 200-year supply of diabase. The Gilbert family home in Rocky Hill was not included in the sale.

Michael Stavoia of New Shrewsbury is president of Trap Rock Industries. Mr. Stavoia, a contractor, is reported to own seven bituminous concrete plants which use quarry stone. He is undertaking landfill projects and is a partner in a Florida horse farm.

WEAK ON ZIP CODES?
Help it on the Way. In your correspondence lately, have you omitted the zip code because you didn't know it? If so, you are one in every two such person in the nation, and the Post Office has announced that help is on the way.

President Johnson has proclaimed October 10-15 "ZIP Code Week," during which time persons will be able to ZIP Code their mailing lists. Post offices will deliver "no postage needed" cards to each of Princeton's 9,557 residential delivery spots. Nationwide, the number will be $5,000,000 cards.

The cards will have blanks for addresses used most often but for six others the recipient —Continued on Page 12

The Post Office will then add the proper ZIP Code for each address and return the cards to the sender. "This is a good time to get the ZIP Codes missing from your lists," Postmaster John L. MUSEUM OPENS At University. Over the last year, the new Princeton University Art Museum has been opening up, one stage at a time. Instructors and students used library and work rooms during the last academic term.
Without paintings on the walls,
the bare building was shown until spring to a group of faithful friends of the Art Museum who were kept in touch with the progress.

At reunion time in June, there was a dedication of the building and special galleries and on these occasions, works of art belonging to the Museum and many others on loan from private collections were on view. In the temporary exhibition gallery there was a show of paintings, drawings and collages by Etienne Vicente, the 1965-66 Resident Artist.

During the summer the doors of the Museum have been literally open to everyone and the traffic reported such as almost four hundred souls on a Sunday from only 2 to 4 is the only traffic in town one finds encouraging.
October 29 will mark the final and official opening of the whole operation and from there on, it is hoped that with increasing interest, not only the University but the community and friends will all make this museum a vital part of their lives.

Approaches. Resident Princetonians and especially newcomers, are often baffled as to how one penetrates the campus to find the Art Museum. Parking becomes the initial problem as no outside vehicles are allowed past the blocks. Exceptions to be noted here for elderly or infirm visitors who may quite easily obtain permission from the Campus Police and may be driven to the Art Museum.
Those who need wheelchairs should drive to the back entrance at the lower level where attendants will provide wheelchairs (donated by a "wonderful friend of the Museum) and elevator service.

Other visitors must enjoy a Sunday's walk through the campus from parking lots such as the one on Olden Street opposite the Engineering Quad, below Baker Rink etc. or on streets U. e., William Street with two-hour parking limits. A 30 minute meter on Nassau Street will hardly do for even a quick trip to this museum for there is a wealth of interesting art which should be taken in at a leisurely pace.

Some of us have a lingering affection and nostalgia for the

Why I Plan to Vote

REPUBLICAN

DEMOCRATIC

By Bryant Wedge

By Harold Monteil

The elections of 1968 come at a time when our country faces a whole range of critical problems, domestic and international, economic, social and political. The vote has rarely been more important or required more soul-searching and thoughtful consideration by all citizens. I have studied the issues and the candidates and, despite my usual Democratic Party preference, I plan to vote for Senator Clifford P. Case.

In my judgement, Senator Case exemplifies the personal integrity and political courage that we need in Washington. His stands on issues are well-founded and realistically responsible. His positions on Senate Committees and the respect which he has earned on both sides of the aisle and in the Administration enable him to take a particularly constructive part in representing the interests of New Jersey and of all the nation. Senator Case is no uncritical follower; he studies the issues and thinks for himself and for us. When he speaks, he is listened to.

The most critical issue that our nation faces is our involvement in Vietnam. This sharply reflects a wide range of domestic and international problems.

Senator Case, as a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, has been one of the most responsible and constructive voices in the search for an honorable and fair solution to this conflict. He realizes our solemn commitment and the necessity to honor it. But he does not panic, he is neither "hawk" nor "dove"; he recognizes the dangers of military escalation as well as those of unilateral withdrawal.

He has, with documented justice, criticized the Administration for its lack of candor with the American public; nevertheless, the President has appointed him to represent the United States on the United Nations Delegation, for his is a voice of reason. No one knows the answers to the Vietnam dilemma, but Senator Clifford P. Case can be relied on to play a constructive and much-needed role in the search for an honorable peace.

On domestic questions, Senator Case is equally forthright and equally concerned with basic social values. His vote for cloture in this year's Civil Rights debate showed that concern. His courageous and successful repudiation of the "hat-links" who tried to create a place for bigotry in the Republican Party of New Jersey, demonstrated his commitment to standards of responsibility and rejection of extremism.

Few men in public life have been tested so severely and none have met the test better. He is consistent with this record that Senator Case has taken a leading part in addressing standards of disclosure for Senators and Representative which can do much to insure the integrity in government that the American people have a right to demand.

Although Senator Case is a Republican, he has seen to it that New Jersey has not lacked Federal attention. He has successfully represented the needs of the State for Federal assistance in welfare and education, highways and public works. He is, moreover, a powerful advocate of regional planning in mass transportation which is so necessary to the rational growth of our economy.

Senator Clifford P. Case is an outstanding American and an outstanding Senator. Regardless of party, we need him in Washington to represent the interests of our State and of all the people at this critical juncture of America's history.

The ballot in November often provides only an option between evils, and I find myself voting against the candidate of one party or the other. There is really only one candidate I have ever wholeheartedly and without any reservation voted for. Representative Frank Thompson, Jr.

He is a professional politician — a man who seeks through negotiation and compromise to legislate into reality his vision of America. His vision is mine too, and I shall achieve a sense of participation in that future when I vote for Frank Thompson again at this election.

He is dedicated to the extension and improvement of educational opportunity for all. Representative Thompson's leadership in the cause of Federal aid to education has earned him the title of "Mr. Education" in the U.S. Congress. I share his belief, not only ideologically but because I know that strengthening the education of any child benefits mine.

He believes that the arts are a national birthright. From the days, early in his tenure, when his House speeches in support of the arts brought forth guffaws and sarcastic comments from other Members of Congress, Frank Thompson persevered and persuaded and finally succeeded in bringing into creation the National Arts and Humanities Endowment.

He is dedicated to human rights. He is the author of some of the most far-reaching civil rights, equal opportunity, aid to education. But in addition to serving millions he has also made the effort in behalf of individuals — young men and women from this Fourth District who have been interested in his Washington office or whom he has personally put through College; people without power or money or know-how who have turned to their Congressman when they needed a medical referral to the National Institutes of Health, or a Social Security check was late, or a soldier son needed a furlough.

Representative Thompson favors a political solution to the war in Vietnam. At the same time that he voted for the last military appropriations bill which supported our armed forces already committed there, he served notice that he was not voting funds to escalate the conflict.

He is always there, always on the job. No phone call or letter goes unanswered. He has one of the best attendance records in the history of the House of Representatives, yet at the same time maintains a full-time office in Trenton and spends a day-and-a-half there each week.

He was by reason of his intelligence, education, creative idealism and extended years negotiating skills already an exceptional freshman Congressman. That was in 1954. After twelve years, he is one of the most effective men in the Congress, a leader among leaders. While others are posing for the press, he is grasping, Frank Thompson is writing the legislation and getting the votes for it.

He believes, as I do, in the one-man-one-vote rule; but I really feel that when I vote to re-elect Representative Frank Thompson, Jr., casting one ballot worth many.

te, male-female, when something "over-engineered."

The Publisher of Car and Driver magazine recently summed up the case for the 230S:

"It has more than enough brakes for its potential speed. It has the capacity to go around a corner much, much faster than anybody's ever going to go. It rides very well. The seats are designed to sustain loads and provide comfort over a longer period of time than anyone is ever going to sit in them. It's a 100 percent kind of automobile."

To those who view a car as a machine and not an image builder, this "over-engineering" makes eminent good sense. And makes the 230S well worth its $4785 price. Some reasons for that price—and some answers to the charge of "over-engineering":

"Everybody in America is going fast today, but how many of us can stop?"

—David E. Davis Jr.
The 230S can stop—and stop and stop and stop. Two strong reasons: a 9.9-inch disc brake on each front wheel.

Designed for 150-mph racing cars, disc brakes banish the threat of fade in repeated use. The threat of brake "lock-up" is virtually reduced. Water and dust have little effect. Extra benefits at no extra cost: A power assist that takes the work out of braking and dual circuit brake lines that remove the possibility of total brake failure.

"It will go down a nasty little one-lane country road just as well as it goes down the New York Turnpike"

—Automotive editor
It has to. Mercedes-Benz cars are sold in 156 countries where nasty little one-lane country roads are often the only roads. A spongy "boullevard" ride won't do in Afghanistan or Iceland. Mercedes-Benz engineers had to come up with something better.

Their solution, borrowed from racing experence: a fully independent, rear swing axle suspension.

"They don't build them like they used to"

—modern American luxury
Mercedes-Benz presents radiator medallions to owners who have clocked 60,000, 120,000, and over 300,000 miles. The demand is steady.

A contributing factor: the 230S body is a rigid steel shell, welded at 10,000 points. This "unit" method of construction makes obsolete the separate frame and body type, with its nuts and bolts and rattles.

Sheet metal on many body panels measures a millimeter thick (pound your fist on the 230S roof; you don't feel a wobble, you hear a "thunk").

The 230S ranks as one of the world's sturdiest 4-wheeled machines, because Mercedes-Benz ranks as one of the world's sturdiest car builders.

The company has never stopped building them like they used to.

"A car is not a rolling boudoir, a rocket ship or an oak-paneled library —so it shouldn't look like one!"

—interior designer

The 230S seats five in considerable comfort. It does not lure you with stereo tape players

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 7 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,582
300SE Coupe	11,590
230SL Roadster	6,185
250SE Sedan	5,884

200 Diesel Sedan	4,170
200 Sedan	3,955

*Excludes dealer prep, taxes, title, license, and optional equipment.

Engineered for safety

The 230S imparts a feeling of reassurance; it puts the driver and his passengers at ease. It is engineered to help you avoid trouble. And it is engineered for maximum protection if trouble should occur.

Front and rear body sections are designed to yield on violent impact, to absorb shock before it can hit the passenger area. Some amazing tests have shown that in roll-over crashes at 65 mph, the roof stayed intact. Inside, you will find one carless or stubby touch. The rearview mirror is spring mounted to snap off if struck, for example. The steering wheel hub looks like a doughnut; it is padded, not pointed.

TIGERS IN FOR TROUBLE Signs Say, "Amish Ahead."

A Princeton football team that is developing slowly and painfully as a result of constant rain and multiple injuries will play defending Ivy champion Dartmouth Saturday.

Somewhat unexpectedly, it is the Tigers who will go into the game underbitten, but there is little likelihood that they will emerge in the same condition. Although unimpressive in a 1977 victory over Massachusetts and week 7-6, by Italy Cross, the Indians are clear-cut favorites to win before a sellout crowd of 14,300 in Memorial Stadium at Hanover.

QUICK LOOK AT DARTMOUTH The Ivy League team to round into form had potentially explosive offense and a great punter in Mickey Benge.

DEFENSE: Line regular and second string. Overall, among the league's best.

CHIEF ASSET: Ability to score—both on power-line-type attack and backfield.

CHIEF PROBLEM: A shade thin in reinforcements, but depth is greater than Princeton's.

TYPE AT RISK: Formation, with variations including wing-T and split.

Despite the fact that it was hit fairly hard by graduation, Dartmouth has retained many key players from the 1983 team which won them all and was awarded the Lambert Trophy Primary Factor in the Indians' hopes for a second straight Ivy title is the backfield of Mickey Benge, quarterback Gene Ryzewski and Paul Klumpp, halfback, and Pete Walton, fullback. Klumpp has been out of action with a shoulder injury and it is a doubtful starter Saturday, but the

The Rhubarb Patch Grow Tall in the Rain

Saturday's wind-lashed downpour made life miserable on the field for players and officials alike, so many arguments developing as tempers grew shorter that a dozen players broke into a brief fight, two were ejected and at game's end, referee John Wegerick got a police escort off the field after a Columbia player reportedly struck him below the eye.

These were among the day's rhubarbs:

• In a fourth and 11 situation, Princeton punted and Columbia was charged with holding. After the line men had completed several short runs up and down the sidelines with the chain, the Tigers got 15 yards and a first down, but no one ever got an explanation as to why the first down.

Tom Blejwas, Princeton defensive back, fell on a Columbia fumble in the third quarter and when the ball was blown dead, came up swinging. Lion and Gerry Zawadzki took him on, and a dozen other players on both sides also tossed punches, but only Blejwas and Zawadzki were ejected.

Early in the fourth period, Coach Buff Donelli who said later he had never been informed which of his players had been hit by Zawadzki, told them to stop. The big end promptly calling attention to himself unnecessarily by catching a pass. It was good for 20 yards, but the referee allowed it to stand and marched off 15 yards against Columbia before the next down for a player's illegal return to the field. Said Dick Colman after the game: "Supposing the pass to Zawadzki had gone for a touchdown? Would the penalty have been limited to 15 yards on the next kickoff?"

• On the last play of the game, Columbia completed a 37-yard pass that took the ball to the Princeton 20. At mid-field, a Columbia player fell down and the clock—showing six seconds left—was stopped until he was helped off the field. In accordance with the rules, it was started again when he reached the sidelines. Columbia had insufficient time to snap the ball on its objective field goal attempt and it took a few minutes for a couple of cops to lead Wegerick to quarter has been billed as potentially the best in Dartmouth history.

THE MUD WAS KNEE DEEP: Well, not quite, but the optical illusion in this picture makes it look as if Columbia halfback Dick Brown's leg was buried to Palmer Stadium mud up to his knee. Actually, he is about to fall flat on his face to dive for incomplete fourth-quarter pass. Princeton, outlasted and frequently outplayed, hung on to win, 14-12. TOWN TOPICS Photo by Bob Matthews.

Two king-size ends in Captain Bill Calhoun and Bob Farlow, both over 200, both well over six feet, and an All-Ivy center in 215-lb. Chuck Matasak, are the standouts in the offensive line. Defensively, the Indians have enough returning veterans to go with adequate holdover strength. The added problem for Princeton is that during the past decade, the Green has been much better at handling the single wing than any of the six other Ives.

Indian Sien on the Tigers. Since the Ivy League became formal in 1936, Dartmouth has won seven of the 11 games between the two colleges. Added to this ability on the part of Coach Bob Blackman and his staff to master the Tigers is a strong revenge motif—one that will create all kinds of problems for the Orange and Black if the Indians are good enough to break the game open.

It was just two years ago that Princeton marked the occasion of its first visit in football history to Hanover with a lustrous 37-7 triumph, the two line points snatched over the cross bar on the third of three field goals by Charlie Gogolak after the clock had run out. Not the most happy-lucky of losses, Bagnall charged at the time that Princeton was rubbing it in. While he made a measure of satisfaction by beating the Tigers 26-14, here last fall in the game that decided the Ivy title, he will have them on his own field this weekend and will not forego a chance to rub it in himself if the opportunity offers.

It will be greatly to Princeton's good fortune if a Dartmouth team that has disappointed itself with its slow start this season fails to mesh its gears properly for a third Saturday. The Tigers' big problem is that their own shortcomings are ideally suited to an opponent who is potent at offense appears to be extremely powerful once it comes on.

Princeton goes to Hanover with complete awareness that its own attack is necessarily being rebuilt almost from scratch, but far more importantly, with the nagging fear that its defense may be far below expectations. If teams as so more highly regarded than Rutgers and Columbia, playing in weather conditions ranging from difficult to miserable, can explode for touch-down runs of 86, 63, 72 and 80 yards, what are the possibilities for such mayhem by a team like Dartmouth?

Pass Defense Atrocious. In Saturday's drenching downpour and gusting winds, using slippery, mud-spattered ball, Columbia quarterback Rick Ballantine came within 11 yards of setting a new Ivy League record for yards gained passing. Who is Rick Ballantine? A converted fullback who, the week before—against Colgate on a dry afternoon—had completed a passing record of 40 for 5.

Ballantine's principal receiver, a sophomore named Jim O'Connor, did write his name in the record book with emphasis. The five passes he caught totaled 199 yards—40 more than the old mark set by another Columbia player six years ago. In all, Columbia gained 213 yards on Ballantine's 9 for 24—just 11 short of the mark of 224 set four years ago by Dartmouth's Bill King.

As Dick Colman pointed out after the game, most of the nine passes Columbia completed—and particularly those of the long ones that went for TDs—were bunched in obvious pass situations. Both the pass rush and the pass defense were faulty, shortcomings that were compounded when two Tiger defenders had a shot at O'Connor as he tightrope'd the sidelines on his second long run. They did little more than slap him on the back at he went by.

Capes had been that the defense would contain the opposition while the attack was being rebuilt. Now the combination of the backfield injury and the inadequate blocking provided by an inexperienced line is blending with defensive errors one colored with rather bleak foreboding.

Tigers Hang on Again. As was the case in the Rutgers game, Princeton scored first and hung on grimly to spoil two-point conversion attempts and win. Such ability to protect the slimmest of margins is much to the credit of a young team.

Tailback Dick Brachan shod six yards around left end for the Tigers' first score, eliciting a 37-yard cruise over a soaked field at 8:24 of the first period. The second Princeton TD was provided early in the third quarter by an 85-yard punt return engineered by Doug James, one of the finest pieces of brokenfield running seen in years under any conditions in Palmer Stadium.

That was all the Tigers got, as the Ballantine-O'Connor combine clicked for 72 yards at 14:26 of the third and for 80 with less than three minutes left in the last, the 21-yard victory string on which Princeton was working very nearly came to an end. Both pass attempts for conversions were faulty, however, and the clock ran out with Columbia unable to launch a field goal that would have had to travel 37 yards for a 15-12 triumph instead of the 14-12 defeat. The steady downpour and chill wind that marked the entire game cut the crowd to some 2,000 soggy souls. For comparison's sake, this was less than half the number who sat through the hurricane the day that Dartmouth and Princeton played in 1950.

PMS at HUNTERDON

For 19-30 Contest, Princeton High School, a team that seems to have turned itself around in one week, will play its third game of the season Saturday at North Hunterdon High School, near Annandale. Kickoff will be at 10:30, 30 minutes earlier than usual for morning games.

North Hunterdon is a new opponent on the Little Tiger schedule. Last year, coach Leonard Lane guided his team to a 8-2 record. This season, the Lions are currently 1-1, as a PHS.

North Hunterdon lost its opener, 9-0, to Phillipsburg Catholic and last week defeat of South Hunterdon, 6-0. Commenting on the latter contest, PHS coach Dick Wood reported that the boys had played the "They're big and strong," he said, "A lot of their boys went both ways, but you couldn't see much because of the weather."

Wood reported that it was raining harder than the driving rain his own team had played in the same day. He added that Hunterdon did use a variety of formations, including the straight T, wing T, and I—something which was "interesting to know."

Turnabout, Just how much of a factor the rain and the inaus and the calibre of the opposition were in Princeton's impressive 24-0 victory over WEBBER FOR TWO: Huston Webber, PHIS fullback had a fine game against Ewing, scoring one TD on a run and a second on a Ten Yoder pass. His own interception set up his first score.

Ewing late hard to say. It's really really matter (what is important) is that the Little Tigers rebounded from a disappointing performance to a virtually flawless one in a week's time.

Here was a team that created its own scoring opportunities and capitalized on them. Here was a team that was running and passing effectively, a team whose defensive play could not be faulted.

"We saw a lot of improvement in the game films," said Wood. "There are still some things we need to work on, but we feel a lot better about the team. We have more variety in our offense."

Singling out some of the many fine PHIS performances, Wood continued: "Groh ran 100% better than he did the week before. Webber ran well, considering his lack of experience. Yoder passed well."

Of the defensive line, Wood cited the pla 2nd Fred Fox, Tom Butterfoss, Rick Chico, Mike Pomenoski and Nick Ivy.

McKeever Blocks Punt. The home team Little Tigers scored in the first period when John McKeever and Charlie Madden combined to block a Ewing punt from the end zone. The ball squirted out of bounds on the Ewing three-yard line. In two tries, fullback Ken Groh bulled over with 432 left in the quarter.

Junior Nick Ryan, inserted into the PHIS defense for the first time this season, forced another error. After an open field tackle by Nick set Ewing back for a sizeable loss, the Devils were forced to punt again. Nick broke through, and partially blocked the kick, the ball rolling out on the 30.

A Yoder to Tom Wood pass carried to the 20, Yoder added seven more on a five run and Groh got another first down over the line. From here Huston Webber, another fullback, took over. Driving straight up the middle, Webber was hit hard but shook his tackler and charged in the end zone standing up.

Shortly before the half, Webber intercepted Ewing's first pass near midfield and returned it to the 10 before being nudged out of bounds. On the next play, Yoder, passing with more confidence and poise, hit Webber with a running pass for the TD. One had to look to make sure he wasn't watching Ron Landeck in action.

At the start of the second half, the rain and PHIS were still driving. The Little Tigers took the kickoff and drove toward where Webber sat a first down on the 10. The team lost an apparent fourth score when Tom Wood covered the remaining distance on a fine run but fumbled on the goal line.

It got that fourth one in the final quarter when Pete Six Star buck recovered a Ewing fumble on the latter's 20 and Groh got the last seven on a sweep. He was sprung loose by Yoder who took out two co-defenders with his perfectly-timed block.

Meanwhile, Ewing was bot-

to play against Hurdston.
A blizzard occurred in the second quarter. From the 17, where a fine punt return by Jeff Bullock and a Yoder to Rich Vail pass down the middle carried FHS. Yoder let the snapback on the next play get by him. He ran back and, running to his right, threw to Tom Wood near the goal.

Wood, seeing the ball was going to be short, and probably intercepted, pushed the Ewing defender from behind. The ball deflected off the hands of the defender and arched into the waiting hands of Vail in the end zone for an apparent wild and woolly FHS tally.

When the official started to march 15 yards off against FHS for offensive pushing on Wood, Coach Wood ran out on the field. "You can't come out on the field like this," said the official. "That's another 15 yards." The result: instead of six points, FHS received 30 yards in penalties. 20 more than it was assessed in its entire opening game last week against Hamilton.

HUN BATTLES PERKMEYER
In Home Opener Saturday, The Hun School will begin its annual of the Penn-Jersey High School championship Saturday when it opens its home season against the League's defense game, for which there is a no admission charge, will start at 8:30.

Coach Hawley Waterman and his Johnny Huns have two scores to settle with the visitors. First, Perkemyer was the only team to defeat Hun last year and, second, it was the only squad to score more than six points against the Red and the field like this," said the official. "That's another 15 yards." The result: instead of six points, FHS received 30 yards in penalties. 20 more than it was assessed in its entire opening game last week against Hamilton.

At Toms River last week, Admiral Farragut scored the first points in the season near the end of the first half when Hun fumbled a punt in the 30. After getting a first down on the three, the home team slipped into the end zone two plays later.

Most of the game was played in the center of the field. Waterman reported that fullback Mike Simon gained most of his yardage on rollouts and end sweeps. Defensively, Duke Chule and John Shinn led the team with 12 and 11 tackles each.

Statistically, Hun dominated the second half. Its deepest penetration was to the Admirals' 10 yard stripe but a fumble ended it. Another fumble halted a second drive that had carried as far as the 20. Playing conditions, of course, were horrible. "The game did not prove anything," commented Waterman, who added: "It was a stupid day to end up with a loss. However, I honestly don't think we could have beaten them even on a dry field."

MIDGET TEAMS SET
Incapacity to Coach. The four teams of the Midget Football League have been chosen by the coaches, and will have their second practice session on Saturday at 9 at the Community Park School.

Former Tiger star Cosmo Taccavoli, now a backfield coach at Princeton University and Commissioner of the Midget League, will join Jack Petrone and Jack Sapoch in coaching.

The Matthews Construction Company team will be coached by John Budd with the assistance of John Fitzpatrick and Ted Thomas. Head coach for the Princeton Fuel Oil team is Russ Perone. He will be assisted by Peter Greenfield and Al Perone.

Peter Budd will coach the Nassau-Conover Motors team with help from Bob Jillman and Ted Kopp. Richard Thompson is head coach for the Princeton University Store team, and Jim Blair is his assistant.

GIBSON AND MILLER WIN
In Carnegie Club Races, Walt Gibson and Dexter Miller took first place honors Sunday in the Carnegie Club's sailing races. Both classes sailed four races in moderate breezes.

Gibson, with his wife Jan as crew, won two of the races and, scoring 21.6 points for second. Other competitors were Tom Hamilton, 15.6; Al Benson, 15.1; George Cody, 8.1; and Tom Hilton, 8.1. Miller and his son Tim took two firsts and two seconds in the Penguin class, totaling 48 points. John Reeder was second with 45.7. Other skippers were Pat Curtis, 32; John Hapfman, 29.4; Art Keiser, 26.1; Tom Lawton, 26; Rick Gault, 25.7; John Bartholomew, 25; Walt Foster, 23.1; Dennis Hengy, 7; and Steve Lepp, 7.

BOWLING NOTES
League's Resume. After a summer lull, the bowling leagues at the Princeton Recreation Lanes on Nassau Street have resumed play.

After four weeks of action Princeton No. 1 has grabbed the lead in the Tri-County Firemen's League with 20 points. Two points back in a three-way tie for second are Mercer No. 3, Kingston and Eckerly Hill. Lawrenceville N.F.O. and Hook & Ladder "L" each have 12 points.

General Bowling captured scoria honors with a high single game of 221. Others over the 200 level were Norm Lack, 209; Ray Slovitsky, 208; George Luck, 205; Ray Mount, 202; Walt Chan, 202; and Charles Applegate. Jack Zinsmister had a 204-201.

Bob Cefelini's 223 was high and Harry Kachy rolled 213, 212 and 211 respectively.

In the Three-Man Classic division, Mike Hinkle led off with a titling 248, dropped to a 214 and then lost any chance for a 720 series when he dipped to a 169 for 631. Bill Pencill flashed a 201-214. Dick Wycoff a 209-213 and Jim Regoli a 208-204. Vic Wynnyski had a pair of 206s.

Early standings find Fair Hardware in front with seven wins. Jim Motors, Decker, Dairy and Colonial Restaurant are tied for second with five.

100% BETTER: FHS fullback Ken Grob was cited by his coach for a performance that "100% better" than his effort of the week before. Grob scored two Princeton's four TD's against Ewing.

In the Nassau League, He was followed by Flavio Buono with 219, Mike Pinelli with 213 and Jim Shiley with 209. In team standings, First Aid is on top with 22 points. Reformers, Tiger Garage and Ben's Body Shop trail with 16, 16 and 15.

Only six points separate the top seven teams in the B League where Nassau Del presently holds a tenuous two-point edge over Princeton Jun and Lee's Golf, both tied for second with 16 points. Jnn has 14 while Min Glass, Benwick's and Central Paper are all even with 12.

This leap produced the largest number of 200-plus games — 14 in all. Vince Tullane and Jim Kahny shared high honors with 224 apiece. Bracketed one point back were Elmer Perouton and Ed Dayton. Joe Heitano, Rick Ireland
